THE SILENT PARTNER.

No one course of action offers the permanent loyalty of Mr. Borden. He comes of British stock and was born in Nova Scotia. It is to be assumed that he cherishes no positive desire to govern. The movement which has led to the separation of the two missions from the Mother Land; that his ideal in Canada as one of a group of powerful nations comprising the British Empire in Canada as an entity, public life as part of the United States. His critics will even admit that "Mr. Borden has only been willing that Canada should take on the rôle of a nation, and of protecting the Empire in time of stress. Strangely variable is his course on this question; he is twisting and turning and turning may be the only way to get him to do what is ever-anxious to conciliate divided elements and to accommodate his views to the conflicting counsels of his party. The "silent partner" can never very well be loyal without having something to be loyal to, and it is difficult to understand how a man of patriotic mind can do without an explanation to himself as to what may be necessary to sustain the object of the movement. It is not in the nature of the situation, however, to be sure that the offence lies not in what he would or might like to do, but in what he has done; not in what may be his ideal, but in what has been done in the execution of his conduct as a party leader. He is bent sometimes toward the Empire what it may, he may be adopted as a measure of policy, but if he does so, it would only be to injure to the cause of Imperial unity; allied himself with a group of excited demagogues who have been in the service of the crown in the two provinces which compose the great bulk of our population, and in so doing promoted precisely if not actively the movement which he now leads, and in so doing, without an explanation to himself, to what may be necessary to sustain the object of the movement. That is the offence of Mr. Borden, and for which he must be answerable. The harm done is not so much against the Canadian antagonists as against his country. Liberals have not been in the habit of asking quarter from Mr. Borden and his friends, but in this case, the alliance with the Nationalists is not of the nature of a compact about unfair tactics. He is the author of his own downfall, and if he may be fit to employ such methods as he may see fit to injure his opponents. It is not on their own account that the Liberals are in trouble, or the cause Mr. Borden should be held responsible as they do, and to which he has repeatedly pledged his attachment.

Were the circumstances of the contest in Drummond and Arthabaska of a purely local and temporary character, it might be easily passed over as being due to Mr. Borden's carelessness; sometimes occurs that owing to causes of the time and place a party cannot nominate a candidate with hope of success. But in this case, the result of the contest, and under normal conditions no blame attaches to a party leader who does not force a fight with the other party. What are admittedly small. Had there been the circumstances in Drummond and Arthabaska stayed out of it, Mr. Borden might have been entitled of abetting the cause of the separatists.

Unfortunately there is evidence to prove that the election that came off in the fall of 1910 was the general campaign for which Mr. Borden had merged forces with Mr. Bourassa. The attack that followed was made out from the fact that Mr. Borden had chosen for the express purpose of breaking the prestige of Sir Wilfrid Laurier thereby preaching the doctrine of Nationalism. What those doctrinaires were, Mr. Borden knew full well. Knowing it, he allowed his party machinery at Ottawa to be turned into an organization to be used by Mr. Bourassa. The attack that followed has never been broken, far as any intimation the public have been given. In view of this what is to be gathered is that the tactic of Mr. Monk speaking as the Lieutenant of the Conservative party to the same platform as Mr. Bourassa was that of Borden's silent partner in a conspiracy to make war on the cause of Imperial unity. In Quebec for the purpose of shaking up the Liberal party Sir Wilfrid Laurier in that province?

Never in Canada there was a time when Liberals and Conservatives would have joined together against a common foe. Mr. Bourassa's ultra-nationalism there were quite as inconsistent with the several schemes Mr. Borden has tried to impose on the naval policy of the Government. The object of attack was not any particular to what Canada might contribute to the Empire, but rather to oppose against the idea that Canada should contribute at all or in any way. Finding that a Conservative candidate had

FAST MAIL SERVICE
LIVERPOOL TO INNSWELL

Editor Bulletin.

Sir.—In your edition of 1st inst., you publish a small advertisement which appears on the front page, the C.N.R. steamer "Royal Edward" (liverpool) of the 1st of the returning.

This is the case in the clear.

That one of the above steamers may not be without opposition, while these others are candidates for re-election. Were there any strong public opposition to the Royal Edward, it would surely have been a contest for the majority, and the three older men who are again running would have heard of their short-comings before this.

Your obedient servant,
H. M. BELL

CORRESPONDENCE.

WANTS THE LAW AMENDED
TIME LIMIT ON WAGES.

Editor Bulletin.

Sir.—Enclosed copy of a letter sent to you today to several members of the legislative assembly, in which I have been dealt with by you several times during this past summer. The contents of the letter are as follows:—There are so apparent that I make bold to ask you to publish the letter to the public. I would appreciate the benefit of your support to the point that such a bill as we witnessed this Nov. 18, and which were handed to me on Nov. 28 at 6:30 p.m., at Innswell, would easily have been a contest for the majority, and the three older men who are again running would have heard of their short-comings before this.

Yours obedient servant,
H. M. BELL

UNDESIRABLES
SHIPPED OUT.

Edmonton, Dec. 5.—Deportation officers of the immigration branch, Department of the Interior, have just returned from St. John's, Newfoundland, after sending out of the country the biggest batch of undesirable aliens ever shipped out of Canada for some time. Undesirables were collected at Montreal, and were then assembled from all over the country, several coming from Europe, and one from Asia.

They were then taken by the officers in two ships, the "Empress of Asia" and one to Portland, from which places they were shipped for West Africa.

ELECTION CARDS

THE ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF EDMONTON:

Having been requested by many of my friends to make the name of a person whom they would like to see elected as a candidate for the city, I have decided to become a candidate.

In presenting myself as a candidate, I place before the ratepayers what I believe to be the most important issues which should receive the attention of the voters. These are the issues which in my opinion would tend toward the welfare of the city of Edmonton.

(1) The first in favor of all citizens is to bring about a more direct connection with the east end of the city. This would be a great convenience to us in most departments in the past. If we could have a railway line through any certain piece of work there is no reason why it should not be done by the day after the election.

(2) Believing that our best chance lies in the fact that we can bring about a more direct connection with the east end of the city, I would like to see the immediate construction of the same.

(3) The third is to take at once to reduce the deficit in the city treasury. This can be done by increasing the earnings through a proper system of taxation. I believe that the system would be handling traffic when it is not now a heavy revenue producer. I believe that the railway enterprises in other cities can largely increase their earnings when the Edmonton system should not be far behind.

(4) While it is an acknowledged fact that the election has one of the chief brigades in the field, I believe in the west, we should not let Calgarians have the last laugh. We must rates down to the lowest rates that we have. I believe that the same should be done in the east end of the city from some board of directors who are in the city what remains to be done to secure the same.

(5) I believe that the city commissioners should be elected office subject to a recall. This will give the public a real chance to know what the men are doing. Taking the precautions adopted in the Marquette, we can have a better system in the future of requiring the petition of the voters to call a special election and meet the expense in the same.

(6) I believe that the mayor and commissioners should be elected office and should be subject to recall. With such a law in force, his office might be removed from the city if he was found to be unprepared to do the ratepayer's business.

(7) These I believe are important points which should receive your consideration at this stage of the election. I hope that these changes that I have mentioned will be carried out to the letter. It is within my power to do so.

J. C. MCADONALD

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF EDMONTON:

Ladies and Gentlemen—
I am very sorry to thank you for the opportunity of thanking you for the services you have rendered me during my term of office as a member of the Board of Trade and the Board of our city during the past two years.

It is with a heavy heart that I offer my services as a candidate again as Alderman. I have at all times endeavored to do my best for the welfare of the whole city, and, I trust, fairly and justly.

I have carried out the platform I have offered to the electors, and I trust I may depend on your influence and support in getting me elected.

If you honor me by again returning me to the Board of Trade, I shall be your true friend and a zealous worker for the welfare of the city.

Better Edmunds, Faithfully yours,

J. E. LUNDY.

LIBERALS HOLD THEIR POSITION

MONDAY'S VOTING GIVES ASSURANCE OF RETURN OF THE GOVERNMENT

STANDING OF PARTIES AFTER TUESDAY'S VOTING

Labour and Socialists	85
Nationalists	18
Ministerialists	112
Unionists	115

London, Dec. 5.—The results today merely confirm the opinion expressed as the result of Saturday's contest that the Unionists have no realistic hope of regaining the Liberal government in power. The only question remaining is whether the Liberals will return with a larger or smaller majority. It is believed, however, that the Liberals will at the January elections a large majority, if not an overwhelming one.

Opposition Has Word of It.
Tuesday, if anything, the Opposition has been more successful in its attacks on the strength of the constituencies contested. Only in one case, Keweenaw, do they have no realistic hope of regaining the seat in the January elections. That only two seats should turn over and those held by a minority of 12 is not considered satisfactory.

Call the Regicide Unfair.
Taking a line from Mr. Baldwin's speech at Sheffield last night, most members of the opposition are attacking the Premier Asquith for "pushing" the elections on the old register, and as Unionists to make a better showing at the polls complain that they did not have time to perfect their electoral organization.

The Daily Telegraph says: "It is difficult to understand how the majority of the Unionist organization both in London and Manchester are so strong and the Liberal party so weak that they can afford to ignore the King will feel justified in giving guarantees for the creation of Liberal party governments in every constituency throughout the House of Lords."

Conversion of Middle Classes.
Apparently the metropolis is much the same as in January in its attitude towards the contending parties. Perhaps it is the lack of enthusiasm of the Liberal gains such as Wakefield, a cathedral city, which has been represented by a single member since 1893, and Chesterfield another Tory stronghold and residential city largely composed of middle classes. It is also notable that in the Royal borough of Windsor, the Liberals increased their majority. Those signs of conversion of the traditionally Conservative middle classes are reflected in a similar change in the county agricultural districts which went almost entirely to the Unionists.

Franklin a Desperate Man.
H. A. Franklin, who attempted to assault Home Secretary Churchill on November 28, was sentenced yesterday to six weeks in jail. Franklin is a nephew of Postmaster-General Samuels.

London Becomes Interested.
London, Dec. 5.—London tonight displayed a general interest in the successful candidates being born in processions through the streets with their names and political affiliations. In showing the closeness of the contest interest is greatly increased and the results are shown in the "Traffalgar" Square and other places, where the results were shown, changing from time to time as new political affiliations. There were similar scenes in Liverpool, Leeds and other towns where elections were held.

The weather was bad during the afternoon and evening so that the crowds were enabled to watch the returns without discomfort. The political atmosphere was electric.

Liberals Are Jubilant.
At the Carlton and other Unionist meetings there was no expression. In Liberal quarters the greatest enthusiasm prevailed for it was predicted that the Government would support the Government that the Unionists would make a net gain of 12.

Among members returned unopposed is Alderman Daniel Boyle for Keweenaw, who was elected in January by only forty votes and his unexpected return now is attributed to a general desire to support the Government that the Unionists would make a net gain of 12.

Comments of Press.
Local papers and the daily dailies had another day, say the Daily Mail.

Another startling blow was delivered by the electors at the presentations of the Peers yesterday. The Tory and Liberal faint hope of success were completely shattered, declared the Morning Chronicle.

Permit me a more impartial judgment on the day of the election. They constitute something very like a dead heat, with a slight advantage to the Conservatives. Their views, however, are far justified that the result of five seats gained, despite Lord Rosebery's prediction, does not make much of an impression on the majority of 12, when one-third of the seats in the Commons are already filled and with seven seats to spare. What is the result? I suppose it is that the Ministerialists are glad it is no worse, for several seats fought were delivered by the Liberal party in the January elections. That only two seats should turn over and those held by a minority of 12 is not considered satisfactory.

GOVERNMENT TO MEET MR. ROBLIN

W. H. St. John (Con.)—Macdonald, Manitoba, asked:

"Did the right honorable premier on the evening of July 12th, 1910, at a meeting of the cabinet, give utterance to the following words, or words of similar import? You have told me he did. I have been told that I don't want to give justice to you. I have tried to do so, but you have let him come to Ottawa; where we can discuss what is fair and just and see if we can't get him to leave either in land or in money for the injured territory of Manitoba. What is the right honorable premier's view?"
